sparkling and champagne

nv jansz rosé brut pipers brook, tas 9.5 gl 45 bt

rosé champagne and champagne styled sparkling wines are one of the real treats of the wine world when made well. few tasmanian wineries produce a rosé, which is unfortunate as this is a great style, pinot noir dominant with some chardonnay fruit for creaminess, the wine offers aromas of raspberry and strawberry, mingled with bready, yeasty notes all on fine, balanced acidity.

nv jansz brut pipers brook, tas 9.5 gl 45 bt

as the jansz wine maker, natalie fryar says, why do we need french champagne when we have tasmanian sparkling wines? there surely cannot be a better value australian sparkling wine on the market. a blend of chardonnay, pinot noir and pinot meunier grown at various sites across the tamar valley, pipers brook and relbia.

nv veuve clicquot ponsardin champagne, france 22. gl 65 bt (375ml)

there truly is no other beverage like french champagne. no other drink is as celebrated or as celebratory. the house of veuve clicquot has been producing some of the world's best champagne for over 200 years. good champagne is all about finesse, small bubbles and length, notice how long those flavours last once you swallow the wine.

white wine

2008 goaty hill riesling      tamar valley, tas      8. gl   39 bt
Given a slightly warmer season, this thought provoking wine has immediate bold pink grapefruit characters tempered with complex tropical fruit tones. Hints of lemon and lime provide depth of flavour to a well-structured and balanced wine. Natural acid backbone, ensure length of flavour, cleanliness in the finish with outstanding cellaring potential.

2008 josef chromy pinot gris      relbia, tas      8. gl   39 bt
Pinot gris has shot to fame over the last couple of years and looks set to knock sauvignon blanc off its perch (we can only hope). This example from Josef Chromy in Relbia is true to the gris style. It is a big and rich, fairly alcoholic wine full of ripe stone fruit and spice aromas. The palate is textural and opulent with honey and almond characters and apricot fruit.

2007 observatory hill chardonnay      coal river valley, tas      42 bt
A true Tasmanian climate wine, the 2007 chardonnay is crisp and fresh. It's grapefruit and golden gage flavours are perfectly supported by the vanilla complexity of the soft oak.

2005 pepik chardonnay      relbia, tas      7.5 gl   33 bt
This is a most unusual wine made by Jeremy Dineen at Josef Chromy vineyards in Relbia, just south of Launceston. This wine is unoaked and unfiltered and has the potential to change the perception of anyone who writes chardonnay off as a style. The wine is lean and cheesy, with aromas and flavours of bosch pear, granny smith apple and citrus on top of a creamy, leesy palate. It is great to see such an adventurous wine at this price point.

2008 tamar ridge sauvignon blanc      tamar valley, tas      8. gl   39 bt Tamar Ridge have pulled out all stops with their vision for the future of the Tasmanian wine industry with enormous vineyard expansion under the supervision of industry stalwarts Richard Smart and Andrew Pirie. When all of the vines they have planted start to bear fruit, they will produce more Tasmanian wine than anyone else by a huge margin. The 2006 sauvignon blanc is forward, with tropical fruits and a herbaceous edge and great acidity, enjoy it now while it is fresh.

red wine

2007 observatory hill cab sav mlcoal river valley, tas 47 bt
this medium bodied dry red is the result of a high quality vintage in tasmania's coal river. it is cast in an elegant, well balanced mould, much more typical or northern Europe then mainland Australia the wine has ripe redcurrant and berry flavours.

2008 pepik pinot noir relbia, tas 7.5 gl 33 bt
pepik has a bright cherry red colour and a medium weight palate with ripe cherry and strawberry fruit. soft tannins provide a balanced mouthfeel.

2007 wirra wirra 'church block' cab sav, shiraz, merlot mclaren vale, sa 8. gl 39 bt since 1974, wirra wirra has been producing this iconic blend of cabernet, shiraz and merlot. the wine maker, sam connew, says it epitomises great south australian reds. the cabernet providing structure to the fleshy fruit ripeness from the shiraz and merlot. superb drinking at this price.

2007 dai gum san lime coast, sa 8.0 gl 35 bt
with carefully selected parcels, this merlot displays sweet cherry with a smooth red fruit and dark chocolate palate, gently supported by french oak and soft tannins
